STORM COMING? DON'T BE A FOOL

RECOMMENDATIONS AND MEASURES
OUR WAY

- 1 Weather apps exist. Use them.
If you can stalk your ex's vacation in real time, you can check the storm radar. Thunderstorms don't care about your optimistic vibe.

- 2 A tent is not a fortress.
It flaps. It leaks. It attracts lightning. Move your romantic outdoor lifestyle into a car, camper, building. It's called survival instinct.

- 3 Electricity and water – a classic horror duo.
Swimin in Kolpa? Washing dishes, showering, or charging your phone during a storm? What's next – blow-drying your hair in a bathtub?
Very heroic move, bestie.

- 4 Trees don't love you.
They're tall. You're wet. That's a lightning invitation. And umbrellas? Umbrellas are metal middle fingers to the sky. Congrats.

- 5 Hail hurts.
You don't need to save your car or tomatoes. Let it go, Elsa. Let. It. Go.

- 6 Animals already know what to do.
The dog's under the bed, the cat's disappeared, and you're still outside filming the sky like David Attenborough on vacation. But David, if you notice fire, please call 112.
